Marine Division

The global leaders of natural stone for the marine industry

We provide stone solutions, both structural and feature pieces to the marine fit out sector. Key to our success is understanding the complexities of weight restrictions in whatever we create.

Leisure Areas

Vistona supply and fit natural stone product in all leisure areas on board each ship we work on. We provide bar tops, table tops, Natural stone flooring, furniture and wall cladding, staircases, natural stone benches in Spa areas.

All of our natural stone is hand selected by our clients. In some instances where engineered quartz stone is required, we procure materials from companies such as Stone Italiana, Quarella, Santa Margherita, Cambria, Silestone to ensure we meet the designs specified by our clients Architects and Designers.

Food Courts

Vistona's extensive works in food courts on board the ships in both retrofit and new builds have included both natural stone and engineered quartz. All food preparation areas will come complete with USPH Fillets (United States Public Health), ensuring food safety compliance for our clients.

When it comes to retrofits, our teams often board the ships during sailing and carry out works during the night to ensure minimal disruption to the ships service.

Cabins

The beauty of natural stone enhances the experience of our clients customers when installed in the cabins on board the ship.

We provide the most beautifully selected natural stone and install as vanity units, shower or bath backsplashes. We also provide natural stone surface tops that compliments the cabinetry in the main bedroom areas.

Hospitality

The hospitality sector is a haven for beautiful stone. From marble staircases to a reception desk, flooring to lift shaft cladding, our team is available to walk you through a wide range of options, ensuring the stone tonality and veining provide the atmosphere objective of designers and architects. Our process of stone selection ranges from images, followed by samples delivered to site, prior to selection. In some instances, we will encourage our clients to travel to Verona to hand pick the stone themselves. When it comes to engineered quartz, we procure materials from companies such as Stone Italiana, Quarella, Santa Margherita, Cambria, Silestone to ensure we meet the designs specified by our clients Architects and Designers.

Residential

We welcome kitchen and building companies who are searching for that special something when it comes to surface tops for the kitchen. Whether it is affordable entry level quartz for new starter homes or luxurious marble for the higher end of the residential market, we have a range of options.

Commercial

With the emergence of bright, open and colourful office spaces in recent years, natural stone has played a major part in bringing earthy elements to a project. Whether it is a beautiful Calacatta marble boardroom table, or dark and moody Nero Marquina coffee dock station to Connemara lift lobby areas, we are best positioned to provide this material, offering a range of alternatives to ensure pricing is aligned with budgets.

We are here to assist Cost Estimators, Architects, Building Contractors and Fitout companies to achieve the best visual results, complimented by world class craftsmanship.

Features Division

Natural stone sculpted feature pieces are being more frequently requested of us lately. With this in mind, we created a division within our technical department to focus solely on these projects. This division operates similar to that of an art department. As no two pieces created in this workshop will ever be the same.

Features Pieces

Our bespoke features division collaborate with Interior Designers to create eye catching feature stone pieces. We collaborate from concept to detailed design, advising our clients on the best approach to take when trying to create that something special. Our features team generally hand craft most of the pieces, unless it requires machining. Each handcrafted piece is unique to our client.

Stone Innovation

As we navigated ourselves through the turbulent times of the pandemic, our design team worked remotely with one remit. The remit was to create beautiful stone pieces that would or could be used in every day life at home or in a commercial setting. The concept they created was brought to fruition when the factory was permitted to reopen. These visually stunning ceiling and table top lamps now form part of our product offering to our commercial clients. In December 2020, we will be launching another range of innovative designs relating to items used daily in hospitality or residential settings all made from the best of our beautiful natural stone.

Stone Furniture

Producing unique bespoke stone furniture is an exciting challenge for our teams. Natural stone seating to bathtubs made from solid blocks of marble.

We collaborate with design teams to always push the boundaries of expectations and pride ourselves on delivering exceptionally high works of furniture art.

Antimicrobial Stone Protection

99.99% of all Coronavirus, Norovirus and other pathogens are killed within sixty minutes.

As the world comes to terms with a new normal since the outbreak of Covid 19, the Vistona team, in conjunction with its trading partner La Ponte Marmi and a liquid resin manufacturer have developed a solution and process that ensures 99.99% of all Coronavirus, Norovirus and other pathogens are killed within sixty minutes.

The antimicrobial resin is initially injected into the stone prior to processing the block. Once the block has been processed, there is a series of processes that we have developed to ensure the characteristics of the stone is unchanged, whilst providing complete protection.

This provides excellent mechanical and chemical resistance, excellent resistance to mould, bacteria and viruses. There is also strong resistance to carbonation, providing ease of cleaning.

Our process enables this antimicrobial solution to work successfully on flamed, bush hammered, antique finish and polished stone surfaces.
